

SOUND DESIGN FOR THE STAGE

GARETH FRY

FULL CONTENTS

CHAPTER ONE - WHAT IS A SOUND DESIGNER?

- The sound designer's path to employment
- Assembling a creative team
- The sound designer's background
- What do employers look for in a sound designer?
- Making ourselves a potential candidate
- Making contact
- Sidebar: associates and assistants

CHAPTER TWO - FIRST CONTACT

- Negotiating a fee
- Sidebar: managing your schedule
- Sidebar: managing your finances
- Negotiating better terms
- Royalties
- Sidebar: what should a contract contain?

CHAPTER THREE: SCRIPT ANALYSIS AND MEETING THE DIRECTOR

- Script analysis
- Sidebar: who is your audience?
- Sidebar: what do you do?
- The first meeting
- Rehearsal processes
- Between the first meeting and the start of rehearsals

CHAPTER FOUR: CONCEIVE AND EXECUTE

- Concept from the text
- Concept from the set
- Concept from the direction
- Concept from the show itself
- Concept from the venue

CHAPTER FIVE: MUSIC AND THE BLURRY WORLD OF SOUND

- Blurring the lines
- The emotional journey
- Sidebar: the subjective brain
- Sidebar: Sucker Punch at the Royal Court Theatre
- Sidebar: The Barber Shop Chronicles at the National Theatre

CHAPTER SIX: PULLING THE IDEAS TOGETHER

- Cinematic influences

CHAPTER SEVEN: CONTENT CREATION

- Sourcing sounds
- Sound effect libraries
- Location recording
- Sidebar: what to use?
- Foley and studio recording
- Production elements
- Using your voice
- Sidebar: live foley
- Recording a voice-over
- Sidebar: theatrical gun-shots
- Sound synthesis
- Processing sounds
- Abstracting sound
- Make it weird
- Sidebar: plug-ins in the live environment
- The equipment you need

CHAPTER EIGHT: AMPLIFICATION AND REINFORCEMENT

- Intelligibility and acoustics
- The use of microphones
- Sidebar: the cat in the master and margarita
- Microphones in sound design
- Sidebar: offstage vo and chorus
- Styles of mic'ing
- Sidebar: off-stage areas
- The politics of radio microphones
- Sidebar: the press and radio microphones
- Vocal reinforcement systems
- Localising sound
- Microphones for musicians
- Working with live music
- Sidebar: acoustic reflectors
- Sidebar: parabolic and parallel walls – acoustic trip hazards
- Sidebar: temporary and non-theatre spaces

CHAPTER NINE: SYSTEM DESIGN

- Designing to scale
- Sound system design
- Assessing the venue
- Designing for different requirements
- Sketching out the sound system
- Co-existing with lighting
- Co-existing with the set
- Sound budgets
- Choosing the kit you want
- In-house equipment
- Hiring equipment

CHAPTER TEN: REHEARSALS

- The rehearsal process
- The sound designer's presence in rehearsals
- Sidebar: Astronaut, Theatre O
- First playing sound into rehearsals
- Employing a sound operator
- Supporting rehearsals
- Composed music
- Found music
- Live music
- Microphones
- Radio microphones
- Sound effects and soundscapes
- Matching sound to action
- Starting off with QLab
- What do we want to achieve in rehearsals?
- Sidebar: visiting rehearsals checklist
- React and refine
- The devising process
- The refine part of the process
- Sidebar: The Encounter rehearsal process
- Keeping it live
- Optimising your workflow
- Sidebar: The Cat In The Hat, National Theatre
- File backups and naming

CHAPTER ELEVEN: INTO THE THEATRE AND HOW TO SOUND CHECK

- The sound department
- How to sound check
- Sound system optimisation
- Time-aligning a system
- Plotting session
- Sound checking with musicians and the cast

- The band seating call
- The band sound check
- The sitzprobe
- Virtual sound checking

CHAPTER TWELVE: FOLDBACK

- Stage foldback
- Vocal foldback
- Dealing with a request for vocal foldback
- Sidebar: what is feedback? what is foldback?

CHAPTER THIRTEEN: TECHNICAL REHEARSALS

- Sidebar: beginning of tech checklist
- How do we tech a show?
- How do we start the show?
- Progressing through the tech
- Sidebar: working with the lighting designer
- Is your concept working?
- Problems with volume
- Sidebar: loud sound effect
- Why does it sound bad?
- Sidebar: line crunching
- CASE STUDIES
- Show: Kneehigh's A Matter Of Life And Death
- Show: Redacted
- Show: Cbeebies The Nutcracker
- Show: Boy
- Show: The Barber Shop Chronicles

CHAPTER 14: SHOW TIME

- Dress rehearsals
- Previews
- Sidebar: the ebb and flow of previews
- Dealing with disasters
- Dealing with anger
- Being an intermediary
- Developing resilience
- Why does it sound different tonight?
- Taking notes
- Backups and contingencies
- Going outside parameters
- Equipment failure
- Sidebar: hot spares and cold spares
- Staff illness

CHAPTER 15: PRESS NIGHT AND BEYOND

- Press night / opening night

- Archiving, transfers and touring
- Adapting a stage sound design for broadcast
- Final impressions
- The end of the process
- Coda
- Your career
- Your industry
- Interviews with distinguished sound designers
- Ian Dickinson
- David Mcseveney
- Gareth Owen
- Melanie Wilson